Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 23 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Broken cloud and warm sunny spells on Thursday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Mainly dry and often sunny this evening. Broken cloud cover is expected overnight with some light rain and drizzle over the Derbyshire hills. Generally a mild night with light winds. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Thursday:
Broken cloud with intermittent rain, mainly over Derbyshire hills. Southern and eastern areas will see warm sunny intervals, but isolated afternoon showers possible later. Rain arriving more widely overnight. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Rather cloudy and cool with occasionally heavy rain on Friday. Perhaps warmer with sunny spells and thundery showers developing on Saturday. Perhaps becoming drier through Sunday, occasionally sunny.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.